

BIO: NICOLE NADEAU

Nicole operates in New York City.

Designer, artist, inventor, explorer. Attended Rochester Institute of Technology and Parsons School of Design, resulting in a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Industrial Design. Nicole explores conversations between art and design. Through exploration find truth and new possibilities in forms and unexpected compositions. With an affinity for various alternative and industrial material, Nicole creates functional art-objects infused with poetry and sculptural style. Nicole's pieces feature themes of connectivity and interaction, sciences and geometry, ritual and play. Her work has been featured at the Elemental Gallery at Art Basel Miami in 2008 and 2009, Felissimo Gallery, X-Initiative, as well as at the International Contemporary Furniture Fair (ICFF). Operating as a free-lance design consultant, Nicole has developed collections for Ralph Lauren Home, Limited Brands, & private clients. Previous work includes Rollingstone magazine, Salvatore Ferragamo, and Luxury Architecture firm, McKay Architecture and Design. Nicole has done special projects for Gotham Books, Thierry Mugler's "Womanity", and UNIQLO: Chosen by UNIQLO as the sole designer & artist to represent them in their global fall campaign.
